Reward of Honesty-Beautiful and Touching Incident. Johnny Moore is the name of a bright-eyed, jolly faced lad, twelve or fourteen years of age, whose invalid and widowed mother, living on Morgan street, he helps to support his mother by the sale of newspapers and by such errands and small jobs as he may chance to fall in with. Johnny, who is the hero of the pleasant and neat in his attire, though his clothes may not have al ways been the best, and may have shown in sundry patches and mended rents, the results of both poverty and frugal care. In short, Johnny is just such a boy as we used to "read about" in Sunday School books .--Yesterday morning he was trudging along Broadway, between Franklin Avenue and Wash street, when he chanced to stumble against a large pocket-book which he picked up and found to contain a large number of bank notes and papers. While he was meditating on the sudden riches he had amassed, and which he had slid into a capacious pocket, or perhaps racking his youthful mind whether to seek the owner or conceal his tortune, a gentleman rushed by him in an anxious, hurried, nervous manner which convinced the boy he was looking for something, and he thought he knew what.

The The height out of the water of the Great Eastern, and the concavity of her upper lines forward will prevent her taking a sea on board, but she will be covered with pray forward as far nearly as the paddle-box.

The peculiarity of build already noted in her bottom, will prevent her long turning, in the event of any sudden emergency, such as she is likely to meet among the coral reefs of the Eastern seas, or the crowded water highways of our own sea-girt isle, except at an expense of steward's crockery painful to contemplate. To unpracticed voyagers I should explain that the same priniple in natural philosophy which makes a circus horse ean towards the centre of the ring causes a steamship to do the same, if suddenly compelled to veer at a high angle to her previous course. I repeat the strength and proportions of this noble ship are such as to preclude the idea of danger; but, as to absolute freedom from motion, a sea abeam of only 250 feet from crest to crest (i. e., a sea at right angles to her direct course) will certainly cause her to roll, and, having no keel, she will roll worse than usual.

Old Ocean is proud of this last splendid specimen of nterprise, but he is not resigned to being utterly ignored by young ladies and seedy dandies; nor will he, even at the price of a big ship, submit to be ridden over rough shod. Let us be content with an average of twenty miles an hour, a safe route to our Eastern possessions and exemption from motion, save in exceptional cases. and let us bid the good ship "God speed," and wish the spirited officials, from the chairman and Captain Harrison downwards, a pleasant, rapid voyage, and a great commercial success. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, VATES ANTE FACTUM
